You can experience all this in the Alexandria Wellness Centre. Spa procedures complemented by wellness services, which will enliven and soothe all your senses, will contribute to the wellbeing of your body and soul.

Steam baths

This traditional group therapy is ideal preparation for the subsequent treatments, which take place individually. All your cares and stress will evaporate into the steam bath (43-46 °C). The fragrant essences perfuming the herbal bath (approx. 45 °C) contribute to the relaxation of your body and soul. Aerosol of sea salt is regularly applied to the area of the salt bath (up to 50 °C) with nearly 100% air humidity and benefits your respiratory system and skin. The laconium (approx. 60 °C), where dry heat radiates from the heated walls, benches and floors, gives you the opportunity to relax.

Natural carbonated bath

The source inherent to Luhačovice Spa, the unique natural therapeutic water with a high content of free carbon dioxide, which is absorbed through the skin and improves its perfusion, is used for this bath. This pleasant bath benefits your whole organism, reviving its vitality and regenerating it.

Original massages

You can experience a touch of originality according to the newest modern trends during a relaxing massage with hot melted chocolate, which is a jewel among massages. Toxic substances are absorbed from your body during a massage using natural honey, the lava massage permeates your body with a pleasant heat, relaxing stiff muscles and reviving all your senses and relieving stress.

Purification ritual

Begins with peeling of the whole body, during which dead skin cells are removed using friction by natural substances, leaving your skin elastic, smooth and at the same time stimulating the circulation of lymph and blood. This is followed by a skin care pack.

Rasoul

During this unusual oriental bath you or your partner apply special therapeutic peloid mud with a pleasant consistency and high content of minerals and skin purification substances, to your bodies. These are then removed using a shower, which is switched on automatically.

Wellness impressions

a contemporary concept of the atmosphere of Roman baths . . .

Indulge in moments of relaxation and rest and enjoy the atmosphere of ancient Roman baths after your demanding work. Their typical program began with intensive physical activities to relax the body and get your circulation going. You then passed through the baths from the coolest to the warmest, where you only stayed for a few moments. After this the body was prepared for a massage. The ancient spa tradition has not become outdated and today its new concept is offered by the Alexandria Wellness Centre.
